

4-6-2015

The Chanticleer, 2015-04-06

Coastal Carolina University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/chanticleer>

Part of the Higher Education Commons, and the History Commons

Recommended Citation

Coastal Carolina University, "The Chanticleer, 2015-04-06" (2015). The Chanticleer Student Newspaper. 642.
<https://digitalcommons.coastal.edu/chanticleer/642>

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the Kimbel Library and Bryan Information Commons at CCU Digital Commons. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Chanticleer Student Newspaper by an authorized administrator of CCU Digital Commons. For more information, please contact commons@coastal.edu.

Coastal Carolina's Snapchant Takeover

FEATURES | LACK OF TEAL | 4

BIRD'S WORD | P.E.A.C.E | 11

SPORTS | WOMEN'S LACROSSE | 13

Editor-in-Chief
Kyle Jordan

Assistant Editor
Samantha Bergold

Art Director
Lauren Rose

Features Editor
Laurel Nusbaumer

Sports Editor
Madison Warren

Faux News Editor
Dylan Cordaro

Entertainment Editor
Demarcus McDowell

Web Editor
Madeline Smalley

Staff Photographer
Danielle Werley

Business Manager
Lauren Imbrogno

Faculty Adviser
Gwen Fowler

Contact Us
843.349.2330
chanticleernews@gmail.com
thechantnews.com

On Campus Location
Jackson Student Union
204A

Cordaro Faux News

Students petrified in debate about who presents first on Monday

BY: DYLAN CORDARO
Faux News Editor

PREVIOUSLY ON FAUX NEWS

...Within the blink of an eye, hundreds of years of progress in turning humans into submissive creatures had shattered. Everyone was everyone else's throats; they were attacking each other like spider monkeys. Rumors were that a student had used Dr. Jordan as a shield while another student was projecting paper throwing stars at his classmates. Ten more minutes into the anarchy, and three factions had developed on top of the rubble from the first classroom war. As soon as he dislodged a table from his right arm, Dr. Jordan called for a cease fire.

Representatives from each faction wrote up a peace treaty that would call for disarmament and the total restoration of classroom life before Opulent's mention of the Carolina Cup. The treaty also put Faction Two's nuclear program to a grinding halt and Faction Three was required to donate their war elephants to local Waccatee Zoological Farm.

Before pens touched paper to ratify the treaty, a rebellious classmate Gerri Thunder unleashed a power unforeseen by humans and Stevens, alike.

"Gerri's eyes glowed the color red and they projected beams of light that petrified all those it locked onto," says Salam. "My friend Hoffman Seymore pushed me out of the way and he was turned to stone."

Student Hoffman Seymore was one of seven students to be turned to stone by Gerri Thunder and his crazy eyes. Seymore was also a student diagnosed with teal-colored blood earlier in the spring semester. The six other students who had irreversibly turned to stone were Garnet Stuart, Leela Wyatt, Lemon Face, Bob Evans, that quiet kid in the hoodie, and Brandon Flowers of the rock band The Killers.

A ceremonial service for the Stoned Seven will be held in the Williams Brice pool this Friday. Dr. Jordan who had witnessed all of the events during the 50-minute escapade will be speaking about conflict and why humans are so hesitant on keeping the peace.

"We as human beings are afraid to admit that our lives are full of inconsistencies and mysteries we won't be able to answer. Along with this are those recurring conflicts in everyday life," says Dr. Jordan. "The idea that violence and force is more effective than non violence is all too often glorified in our society. We need to suppress our egoist ways of approaching diversity and disruptions in our lives if we are to avoid future catastrophes."

Conflict is going to be with us forever, and we need to learn how to cope with it in better ways than killing, turning students to stone, or hiding from our problems behind weekends we won't remember.

WE WANT TO HEAR WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY!

Web: thechantnews.com

Facebook: facebook.com/thechanticleer

Twitter: @thechanticleer

Instagram: @thechanticleer

The Chanticleer is the editorially independent student produced newspaper of Coastal Carolina University. It is published weekly during the fall and spring semesters.

Opinions expressed in The Chanticleer are those of the editors or author and do not necessarily express the opinions of the University's student body, administration, faculty or staff.

Letters to the editor are welcome from the CCU community. The editor reserves the right to condense submissions and edit for libel and space. Submission does not guarantee publication.

Advertisements are paid advertisements and reflect the views and opinions of the advertiser, not The Chanticleer or Coastal Carolina University.

The Chanticleer is committed to accuracy. If you find an error in this edition of The Chanticleer, please let us know. Report mistakes to: chanticleernews@gmail.com. Corrections will be printed in the following issue.

Want to see your AD in our next issue? Contact our Business Manager, Lauren Imbrogno - leimbrogno@g.coastal.edu.

VOLUME 53 | ISSUE 17

ON THE COVER:
COURTESY PHOTO

College, the land of opportunity

BY: LOGAN WEISS

Staff Writer

The other day I was talking with one of my close friends. She was complaining about how she is bored and frustrated with the people that she surrounded by (well hopefully she was not talking about me). But she is a little boy crazy, not in the bad way though. But is looking to meet some new people.

So I asked her about people in her class, is there anyone that she is fond of? Nope, she says she knows them all. So what about people that she sees around campus? Nah, I see the same people every day. Then finally I asked, what about clubs? You do anything else around the school? Nope, No one is in to the things that I am into.

Then it hit me. Doing clubs are kind of an important thing. Look at my friend, all she does is the same routine every day! Come on People, why would you do that to yourself!

College is just like America, it is the land of opportunity. You can come to college and join whatever club you want, you can do what every extracurricular activity you want, and you can study what you want! (But you have to pay for that). It really is a beautiful thing if you think about it. So much opportunity at your fingertips, so why not do it!

Growing is such an essential part of college, AKA The land of opportunity. Here is also the perfect place to learn something new! And I am not just talking about classes that you can take. But you can join a club about say, fishing! And bam! You can become a better fisherman. Or you could join an organization such as the WCCU radio! You can run your own show and broadcast what you like to a lot of people! In the land of opportunity you can join anything that would interest you!

Also if you have a passion, like a passion that is just so strong you cannot help but want to share it with everybody. You can create club! Literally about anything that you find interesting. Whether it be sports or music or stamps, you can make that club!

Now I do not mean to sound very repetitive, but there is point behind this rant. With all this opportunity here, why would you not want to try it?! I cannot believe that people around the campus are getting bored with what they have here. Like come on, no offense but do not be "glass is half empty" kind of person.

So remember if you ever are feeling unsatisfied, if you are ever feeling bored about this campus. Then you might need to get a reality check. Because you need get out and do something new. Join a club, take a random class, and check out some place new on campus. Try something new, watch the sunrise.

COASTAL CAROLINA UNIVERSITY SCUBA CLUB

“Opportunities are like sunrises, If you wait too long you miss them.”

Sigma Phi Epsilon golf tournament to raise money

BY: SCOTT KARCHNER

Guest Writer

In the Spring of 2014 the Brothers of Sigma Phi Epsilon (SigEp) held a Golf Tournament to raise money for a local Alumnus whose daughter is battling brain cancer. During the Tournament in 2014 they raised just around $18,000. Since the 1st tournament was such a huge success SigEp decided to host a 2nd one, this time, they teamed up with the Sisters of Alpha Xi Delta (AXiD) to be able to branch out and support two important causes, Fierce Fallon and Autism Speaks.

The 2nd Annual Golf Tournament took place on Sunday March 29, 2015 with a 9 a.m. shotgun start at the Burning Ridge Golf Course. During the Tournament the 100 participants were able to partake in a raffle and silent auction for numerous prizes such as, rounds of golf, restaurant gift cards, golf supplies, autographed footballs from CCU Head Football Coach Joe Moglia and former CCU Quarterback Tyler Thigpen, and much more. At the end of the Tournament there was more than $12,000 raised.

AXiD and SigEp contribute their success to everyone who played in the Tournament, each local business that donated a raffle/silent auction item or sponsored a hole, members of each organization, the Burning Ridge Golf Course, and Kacey Kelley and Matthew Huss, Senior Communication Majors who helped plan the Tournament as their Senior Capstone Project. AXiD and SigEp would also like to extend a special thank you to Tyler Thigpen for playing in the Tournament, Splash the mascot of the Myrtle Beach Pelicans and major sponsors Angelo's Steakhouse, Coastal Ale House, Brandon Brown Racing, Yahnis, and Simmons Drywall and Paint Inc.

For more information on the Tournament please contact Bryan Hunt at bmhunt@g.coastal.edu or Emily Fenichel at enfeniche@g.coastal.edu

COURTESY PHOTO: RUGBY

FEATURES

What's the deal with the lack of teal?

BY: LAUREL NUSBAUMER
Features Editor

It's one of Coastal's proudest traditions – each Tuesday students and faculty are encouraged to wear as much teal as possible to promote school spirit, and during the Fall semester it seems as though the campus has been overtaken by a sea of teal t-shirts and students excited about representing Coastal.

But throughout my four years at Coastal, I have noticed that as the academic year progresses, the participation in “Teal Tuesday” declines. It's kind of surprising, really, as we have a whole team dedicated to promoting Teal Tuesday; they set up at a new location every week and the first twenty-five students wearing teal to approach their table are given a free t-shirt. There's even a contest for Teal Tuesday winners. The incentive to cover oneself in teal is there, so what's up with the lack of participation?

I'll admit that I am guilty of not always participating in Teal Tuesday. Some days my mind is simply so bogged down with other responsibilities that I'm not finding myself making cognitive decisions about what color I should wear on a particular day. I think teal is a decent color on almost anyone, but most of my wardrobe is comprised of earth tones; teal simply isn't my style, but if I think about Teal Tuesday that morning I do participate.

Samantha Riley is a graduate student who is devoted to Teal Tuesday; she even has some professional attire dedicated to the popular tradition.

“I will always remember that I am a Chanticleer even though I'm in graduate school,” said Riley.

It is pretty refreshing to have a graduate student like Riley on campus. She completed her undergraduate program at Coastal, so she is simply continuing her routine of throwing on some teal every Tuesday. Many students in Coastal's graduate programs did not complete their undergraduate degrees on our campus, and since CCU isn't their alma mater, I can see why these graduate students don't have as much school spirit as Riley does.

One of Coastal's most enthusiastic Teal Tuesday participants is sophomore student, Cuyler Chiang. Chiang is a Resident Assistant in the Grand Strand community at University Place. He is doing the University justice by being a role model for his freshman residents simply by supporting Teal Tuesday.

“I feel it's important to have school spirit, especially since I love my school,” Chiang said.

Chiang believes he will continue to show his school spirit by sporting teal every Tuesday throughout his academic career.

COURTESY PHOTO

“Enthusiasm is contagious. We can all take some notes from Riley, Chiang, and Everett. It really does say, ‘I’m a Chant!’” at Coastal, which leads me to an excellent point; I see a lot more underclassmen partaking in Teal Tuesday than upperclassmen.

FEATURES

As an upperclassman myself, graduating this May, I have been very focused on what I plan to wear to graduation. I bought teal wedges my freshman year that I was convinced I was going to walk across the stage in, but then we got teal turf, so that certainly isn't happening — I also realized that it's probably going to be eighty-five degrees on May 9 and I'm not trying to have sweaty feet in my wedges. I have also been thinking about my dress. Before, I was positive I wanted to wear teal or bronze (Coastal's forgotten color that needs just as much love as teal does), but I recently bought a light weight dress that won't be drenched in sweat by the time the ceremony is over. I'm thinking comfort is going to be way more important than wearing teal on this day.

Erin Crawford is a freshman who said she was an avid Teal Tuesday contributor during the Fall, but as the school year progressed it hasn't stayed a priority to her.

"Sometimes I just don't know what day it is," Crawford said, "but some other reasons I could see why people wouldn't participate includes the fact that a lot of people don't have teal and it's really not something people think about at 8 A.M. when they're getting ready for class."

Crawford said she would put more consciousness into participating in Teal Tuesday if it was promoted with more enthusiasm.

Chelsea Greene is a Desk Assistant with University Housing; she finds herself wearing the same teal polo three to five times a week. Greene admits that she does not always participate in Teal Tuesday.

"You don't see too many teal things in the store," Green said, "and teal doesn't exactly match everything."

Greene said she participates in Teal Tuesday every once in awhile, but wearing the same outfit every Tuesday because she can't find cute teal apparel doesn't sound appealing. Green doesn't want to end up being an outfit repeater like Lizzie McGuire was when Kate Saunders called her out.

Personally, I can't judge anyone for not wearing teal on Tuesdays as I am not the best about doing so myself, but I think it would be great to see more faculty and staff at the institution promoting the tradition.

Dr. Michele Everett is a lecturer of Interdisciplinary Studies and finds value in participating in Teal Tuesday as a faculty member at Coastal.

"It's important to show you have school spirit," said Everett, "you want to show the students that you support the school in every way possible. It says, 'I'm a Chant!'"

Teal Tuesday will always be a popular tradition here at Coastal, but it is important to start embracing it and start making it a big deal. Enthusiasm is contagious. We can all take some notes from Riley, Chiang, and Everett. It really does say, "I'm a Chant!"

“I will always remember that I am a Chanticleer even though I'm in graduate school.”

COURTESY PHOTO

“I feel it's important to have school spirit, especially since I love my school.”

COURTESY PHOTO

COAST Film Series Presents

LOGAN LERMAN EMMA WATSON EZRA MILLER

the perks of being a wallflower

BASED ON THE CRITICALLY ACCLAIMED NOVEL

"GRADE: A.
GRACEFUL AND BEGUILING!"

OWEN GIBBENAH, ENTERTAINMENT WEEKLY

April 6th at 5:30 P.M.

Jackson Student Union Theatre

THE BIRD'S WORD

CCU CAMPUS CRIME LOG

INCIDENTS REPORTED FROM MARCH 29TH-APRIL 3RD

COURTESY PHOTO: DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

Officers are available all day, every day to help you.

The mission of the Coastal Carolina University Department of Public Safety is to provide the University community with professional, proactive safety and protection.

- 2 Larceny
- DUI
- 3 Assist Another Agency
 - Disorderly conduct
 - Trespass notice
- Telephone Scan
- Suspicious Activity
 - Possession of marijuana
- Verbal Argument
- Possession of Paraphernalia
- Vandalism
- Property Damage
- Dating Violence

STUDENT ORGANIZATION OF THE WEEK

Coastal Fitness Club

BY: ADRIANNA SEALS
Staff Writer

If you seek some extra involvement on the Coastal Campus and are an athletic, fun loving, social, health conscious and excited person who enjoys working out and being fit (or wants to be), then look no further. The Coastal Fitness Club is exactly what your life is missing; whether you are new to the gym scene or a seasoned gym buff. Started in 2013, the Coastal Fitness Club is one of the newer clubs on campus; but already they have made an impact. The organization quickly expanded their club roster to 179 students, but currently have 30 active members. The current President, Mike Amabile, and the other members of the club are all fitness oriented people who want to educate their fellow students on all forms of fitness; including weightlifting, gym etiquette, Crossfit, and running. They often hold discussions on fitness, being safe in the gym, proper nutrition, supplements, and how to get started working out and maintaining a routine to achieve fitness goals. The Coastal Fitness Club partakes in on and off campus events, including the Color Run, the 1000 lbs club, and Relay for Life, for which they have partnered with the Exercise Sports Science Club. Recently, the Coastal Fitness Club announced their fall 2015 Executive members of incoming President Rickey Carey, Vice President Chelsea Barnett, Treasurer Kiersten Chambers, and Secretary Rachael Abels. If you are interested, their meetings are held every Tuesday at 7 pm in Williams-Bryce room 118.

COURTESY PHOTO

THE BIRD'S WORD

Coastal Carolina's snapchant takeover

BY: ADRIANNA SEALS
Staff Writer

A few weeks ago, Coastal had their Snapchat takeover, rightfully entitled SnapchaNt. This event follows last semester's YikYak and Facebook events, held previously by University Communications.

This #CCUSOCIALMEDIA event took place through University business hours on March 27, 2015. The University has noticed that students use Snapchat, among other social media sites, to communicate; so it seemed fitting that they would use the same social media to communicate with the students.

Brent Reser from Coastal Carolina University Communications noticed this; so he and his intern, Jada Bynum, came up with the idea for this event. SnapchaNt was considered a successful event because it "bolstered the account" by driving up the number of students who followed @ccuchanticleers on Snapchat (from 304 to over 800 students) and the numbers of students who watch the Snapchat stories (from 150 per story to 600 per story).

"It was very cool getting the snaps back from students in their teal and showing support for this event," said Reser.

Communication with students through their social media accounts is important for the university, to maintain the connection they have to their students; along with documenting and spreading word about activities on campus.

Prospective students, faculty, and staff also have access to the CCU Social media sites. In case you don't already know, the official Coastal Carolina University social media accounts are:

facebook.com/coastalcarolinauniversity

Twitter: @ccuchanticleers

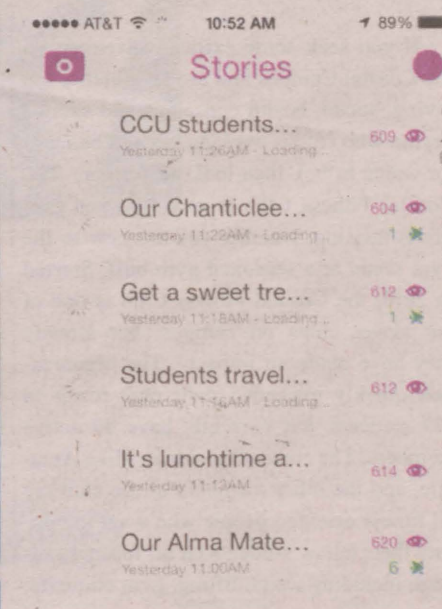

Instagram: @ccuchanticleers

Snapchat: @ccuchanticleers

Be on the lookout for another #CCUSOCIALMEDIA event before the end of this semester.

Teal Trailblazers are ready to give tours!

COURTESY PHOTOS

THE BIRD'S WORD

CCU listens; Tune into WCCU Radio

Keeping Up | Q&A: Questions & Addison

Show: Keeping UpHosts: Donovan Bowman, Hallie Bonds, Nate DyerDays Aired: Monday, Wednesday, FridayTime: 1 p.m. – 2 p.m.

Keeping Up radio show airs on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays from 1pm – 2pm and displays the most on air/ not on air music streaming for views of any choice. Keeping Up keeps up with the latest current events from album debut, sports, fashion, school events and politics. Keeping Up top most played artists are Big Sean, Wiz Khalifa, Lord, Drake, Nicki Minaj, Ariana Grande, Megan Tanes, Beck and ASAP Rocky

Each day displays a different show and choice of music. Mondays are "Monday Madness", Wednesdays are "What The Wednesday", and Fridays are "Flashback Friday", which is consider their best show. Fridays show brings in around 50 connected listeners. Mondays bring in around 10 listeners and Wednesday bring about 30 listeners per week.

Keeping up has been the number 1 show on WCCU for the past four semesters. Keeping Up was first aired with Donny Leonard as host and Donovan Bowman as co-host spring semester 2013. Donny graduated the following semester giving Donovan full rights to the show.

Donovan along with former members of Keeping Up Chris McCormick and Simion Juss quickly work there talents to the top when landing 1st spring semester 2014. Now in 2015, Donovan is the producer over Keeping Up and watches over his new talents Hallie Bonds (host) and Nate Dyer (co-host). PHOTO: <http://www.coastal.edu/wccu/shows/keepingup/>

Show: Q&AHost: Addison TaylorDays: Wednesdays and FridaysTime: 12 p.m. – 1 p.m.

Q&A is a sports show with no music breaks. Addison Taylor, who is the host of Q&A wants to give his listeners the full hour of sports news with no music breaks which is different from other shows on WCCU. Another thing that makes Q&A a unique show is that it is a sports show with views are from today's generation. What Addison means by today's generations is that most sports anchors that we see on ESPN are older and none are really young. Addison's point of view is that the younger generation view sports different from the older generation.

For example, Jameis Winston and Marcus Mariota not attending the NFL Draft was one of his topics on his March 31st show. While some of the older sports anchors think it is a bad decision for these two future stars not attending the draft, Addison is perfectly fine with it.

"If players want to be at home with their families on Draft Day then how is that a problem. It's no problem for athletes wanting to be with their family and friends on one of the biggest days of their lives," Addison said.

Winston's grandma is very ill and won't be able to come to Chicago, so Winston wants to stay home and spend draft day with her and the rest of his family. Addison states that the only reason why the NFL wants Winston and Mariota to attend the draft is because they will make money off of them attending. Mariota wants to go to Hawaii and spend draft day there, which is his hometown.

Addison is a senior at Coastal and is from Columbia, South Carolina. Communication is his major and his minor is journalism.

"My goal is to be like Colin Cowherd and Stephen A. Smith, who both have their own show on the SportsCenter networks and have

BY: JADAMION ROSS

Staff Writer

their own radio show," Addison said.

Students should really tune into Addison's radio show on WCCU. This guy really knows his sports and students can hear it from someone's point of view around their age. Addison is different from other people who like sports. Addison knows about all sports from Basketball, to football, hockey, baseball, and more. If it's breaking news best believe Addison is on it and will talk about it on his show "Q&A".

Be on the lookout for this kid, he has a bright future ahead of him and really wants to make it big in the sports business and is doing everything possible to achieve his goal. So CCU students if you have time on Wednesdays and Fridays around 12:00 p.m. tune into WCCU Radio and listen to Addison's Q&A show.

COURTESY PHOTO

THE BIRD'S WORD

Update: CCU's Red Flag Campaign

Fraternities join together with CCU's Counseling Services

BY: LAUREL NUSBAUMER
Features Editor

st Wednesday, Kappa Alpha Psi Inc. and Phi Gamma Delta fraternity joined together with Coastal Carolina's Counseling Services to bring the Red Flag Campaign to Coastal Carolina's prince lawn. From the hours of ten in the morning to three in the afternoon students attended a red flag campaign tent that was erected in the middle of prince lawn. The tent hosted a variety of activities for students to take part in. From signing a pledge against violence, students also wrote their own personal messages against dating violence on a white board and have their photo taken with that message. But the biggest draw to the tent was that students were able to write a message against dating violence on a little red flag and could place that flag on Prince Lawn. "As you can see we have little red flags," Says Kelsie Miller, Miller is the S.H.O.R.E Coordinator for counseling outreach. "Students are writing (on the little red flags) rape is wrong, and other things, such as no means no and yes means yes. It is stuff that shows that we are against sexual violence." Hundreds of little flags lined the walk of Prince Lawn. The little red flags all carried different message about the wrongs of dating violence. The multitude of red flags, waving in the breeze was a sign to the importance and solidarity that Coastal Carolinan's student body has for such a great awareness campaign such as this. According to the redflagcampaign.com, The Red Flag Campaign is a public awareness campaign which is designed to address dating violence and to promote the prevention of dating violence on college campuses across America. The campaign is based off of a "bystander intervention" strategy and it encourages friends and community members to "say something" when there are signs of dating violence. "April is sexual assault awareness month in the United States." Chris Donevant-Haines, The assistant director for counseling services here at CCU. "So this is actually our kick off date, being April 1st." The tent on Prince Lawn also hosted a variety of education opportunities for students as well. Different fliers, posters and sources of information were readily available to students. Educated volunteers were also readily available to talk to during the ten hours, every volunteer was very welcoming, friendly, and helpful with understand this subject of dating violence. "Students who come up (to the tent) they can talk to us about the topic. We can give them information and education and they can actively participate by creating their own flag." Say Donevant-Haines. "We also have the activity in which students can write their own message and get photographed, and we hope to turn those into a poster campaign on our campus." Students could also make donations to the local Rape crisis center to help further the good work that the Red Flag Campaign is doing here on campus and the greater community. As for all this good work, Miss. Chris Donevant-Haines had a message about the goodness of the campaign. "I think that the overall message that we are hoping to send is that we just not going to stand for violence." Says Donevant-Haines. "There are so many people who are standing up and making their voices heard, that violence is just tolerable, it is not acceptable on college campuses."

CCU students want to work SGA bill aiming to increase student work hours

BY: SAMANTHA BERGOLD
Assistant Editor

On February 23rd, the student government association passed a bill to increase student work hours from 20 to 25 hours a week.

SGA President, Eliana Padron, said she strongly believes students should receive the full amount of hours they are allowed if they need or want them.

"I'm proud to sign this bill," said Padron. "It will benefit students and keep the focus on academics."

Padron said that most students work 15 hours a week instead of 20 in case they need to pick up a shift.

"If students are capped at 15 in order to meet this requirement they are not receiving the full amount of hours they are allowed," said Padron.

Padron said the increase to 25 hours does not mean students will get 25 hours, it simply means students will get up to 20 hours.

According to SGAs elections exit poll, 81.6% supported increasing student work hours.

Editor of Archarios, Courtney Hammett, said her studies suffered after her job got switched from stipend to payroll.

"I was unable to get another job to help pay tuition because of the hours limit," said Hammett. "My studies suffered not because I worked too much, but because I was constantly worried about how to make the next tuition payment."

Hammett said students are saying working five more hours will not hurt their studies.

"I think the administration should believe them," said Hammett. "Ultimately, we know what's best for us."

This semester in 1983: April Fool's edition

Bookstore May Have Mob Connections

BY: JUMPE OFFCLIFFE
Staff Writer

Sources who wish to remain anonymous have indicated that the Bookstore may be linked to the Mafia. This alleged Syndicate connection may be responsible for exorbitant book prices, the disappearance of students who have bounced checks in the bookstore, and the 50 percent discount for anyone who has an Italian surname.

Further evidence of the mob connections is the discovery of a mini-casino in the storage of the Bookstore. There is also reason to believe that the Bookstore may be linked to the daily card games in the college cafeteria. And suspicious looking thugs have been seen hanging around the pool tables in the game room.

Jimmy "The Godfather" Soles was confronted with these charges. He said, "I ain't got no time to talk to some broad who thinks she's Lois Lane." He then went to work on some "contracts." Jim "Numbers Runner" Pack was unavailable for comment as he was out shaking down a freshman who was late with his protection money.

College officials are reluctant to talk about the situation. One source who begged to remain anonymous said, "I've been paying protection to Mr. Soles for years and I think it's a disgrace. But what can I do? If I don't pay, I wake up with a horsehead in my bed. That's worse than waking up to my ex-wife!"

One professor said, "I'm mad as hell! Three years ago, Soles came to see me with a deal I couldn't refuse. He told me if I would change the books for my class every semester, I would get a cut of the profits. The only thing I get from him are threats."

The Mob connection is also present in the Student Government Association of which The Godfather is advisor. President Phillip Lassen has begun to wear pinstripe suits to all SGA meetings while Vice President Mike "the Bugman" Creitz has been acting as a hit man for Lassen and rubbing out anyone who gets out of order. So far three "accidents" have occurred during SGA meetings. Treasurer "Happy" Harry Rogers is allegedly keeping two sets of books, one of which is labeled "Horses." And Secretary Esta Hill is reportedly taking more than notes.

THE BIRD'S WORD

CCU wants P.E.A.C.E.

P.E.A.C.E set to do an encore performance of March production

BY: KYLE JORDAN
Editor-In-Chief

The CCU student organization, Performers Emerging Above Circumstances to Excel (P.E.A.C.E), will be holding an encore performance of their March production, Help Me Fix These Broken PEACES, later this month.

The Student Writer and Director of the performance, Wesley Boyd, said that the play tells the story of a college student who has encountered many struggles during her freshman year.

"It tells the story of Tyler, a college freshman who doesn't have the best relationship with her parents," said Boyd. "The family learns the importance of love from some very entertaining and unique characters," said Boyd.

P.E.A.C.E. performed the play twice in March, but the audience just could not seem to get enough of it. Boyd said that the high volume of requests that P.E.A.C.E. received for an encore led to the organization's decision to do the play again.

"After the success of doing the show the first time, it was requested by people who saw it and by people who missed the show but heard it was good, that we do it one more time. So we made the decision to bring it back," said Boyd.

After both March performances, P.E.A.C.E. raised over 400 articles of clothing that they donated to Sea Haven Inc., an organization that focuses on helping at risk youths in the Myrtle Beach area. Boyd said that P.E.A.C.E. will continue their community service efforts by donating all proceeds of the encore performance to Relay for Life.

The play will be performed in the Student Union Auditorium on Wednesday April 8, 2015 at 7pm. Tickets can be purchased for $1.

P.E.A.C.E. will begin auditions for their next performance on Thursday April 9, 2015. Boyd will once again be directing the performance and he encourages anyone who is interested in auditioning to contact him at wgboyd@coastal.edu. Boyd said that the next play that P.E.A.C.E. will perform is called Went Too Far. Stayed Too Long. Got Back Too Late.

"It tells the story of how to continue to go on when your heart has been broken so many times," said Boyd. "We created this event to encourage creativity in our talented student body," said Boyd.

P.E.A.C.E. is a diverse student organization and they encourage all types of creativity.

"We are an organization with ambitions of uniting great performers who are striving to be innovators, who create new our ideas for our generation," said P.E.A.C.E. member, Murtice Hinson. "Performances include original poetry, singing monologs, and rapping," said Hinson.

COURTESY PHOTOS

The
EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Welcomes You

A Campus Christian Group that...

celebrates diversity
emphasizes social justice
cares for the Earth
worships communally
values questions
questions absolutes
shares a spiritual journey

Invites you to study the path and teachings of Jesus

Wednesdays at 6:30pm

Jackson Student Union, A213

Sponsored by St. Anne's Episcopal Church

Services at Lackey Chapel

Sundays, 10am

st.anne.episcopal.conway@gmail.com

SPORTS

Women's Lacrosse opens Big South Play with a win

BY: MADISON WARREN

Sports Editor

The Women's Lacrosse team ended their two-week drought of play this Saturday against Longwood. The midseason break did not stop Coastal, as the Chanticleers landed their fifth straight win in a row, 9-8.

Saturday's win against Longwood was the first conference game of the season, and it extended its program-best winning streak of five games.

Coastal Carolina took an early 3-0 lead in the first three minutes of play and still maintained the lead 5-3 into halftime.

The Longwood Lancers took over the second half, and took an early 6-5 lead after scoring three straight goals. The Chanticleers responded with three straight goals of their own, regaining the lead 8-6. Quickly after Longwood netted a pair of goals to tie the score, 8-8.

Junior attack Keri White ended the game, netting the winning goal with a little less than two minutes to play. The tie breaking goal was White's third goal of the game, and her fifth multiple-goal performance in the last six games.

Alicia Geiter and Maggie Carr also added two goals for the Chanticleers.

In total the game kept viewers on the edge of their seats with three ties and two lead changes.

Coastal Carolina's record jumped to 6-3 for the season and 1-0 in the Big South. This win also marks Coastal's first win against Longwood in three games.

The Women's Lacrosse team remains on the road and continues on the conference journey with a game at Liberty on Monday at 1 p.m.

COURTESY PHOTO

2015 Schedule

4/6 at Liberty
4/10 vs. High Point
4/12 at Winthrop
4/17 vs. Gardner-Webb
4/19 vs. Presbyterian
4/24 at Campbell

Big South Conference Championship

4/28 Quarter Final
5/1 Semi finals
5/3 Championship

SPORTS

Big schools beware of Teal Tuesdays

BY: SIERRA DOHERTY
Staff Writer

The Chants sent out a message: Tuesdays belong to Coastal. With consecutive Teal Tuesday wins over North Carolina, Clemson, and South Carolina under their belts, #23 Coastal Carolina put their newly acquired national ranking on the line with a midweek game against Wake Forest.

Trailing 4-1 after four innings, Coastal rallied and scored one run in the fifth, two in the sixth, and three in each of the seventh and eighth innings for a come-from-behind win.

This improved the Chants record to 5-0 against ACC teams this season.

After allowing two runs in the first and two in the third, four CCU pitchers combined to throw shut-out innings the rest of the game.

Michael Paez was a major player both offensively and defensively. Going 2-for-4 with an RBI and two runs scored, he also made an amazing play in the bottom of the sixth. With the score tied 4-4, Coastal's infield was drawn in due to a Wake Forest runner on third. The Wake Forest batter hit a ball back up the middle. Paez dove to grab the ball and recovered in time to throw the ball home, preventing Wake Forest from scoring another run.

In the top of the seventh, Casey Schroeder hit a three run blast to push Coastal into a 7-4 lead. A couple of Wake Forest errors and Coastal stolen bases allowed for three more runs in the eighth totaling a 10-4 victory, and another reason students should be proud to wear teal on Tuesdays.

"I was glad I could come up big for the team in that situation," said Schroeder regarding his home run, "It was a big win on the road to lead into this weekend."

The win over the Demon Deacons also included a home run from David Parrett, a two-run single from Tyler Chadwick, and RBI singles from Paez and Connor Owings.

Before breaking into the national polls last week, Coastal had not been ranked since 2013. The Chants are ranked #23 in Baseball America and #30 in Collegiate Baseball. They are also being considered in the USA Today/ESPN Coaches poll, the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association poll and D1Baseball.com poll.

Coastal went on to start a series against Longwood with a 5-1 win Thursday night.

It's safe to say that excellent pitching contributed to the win, as two CCU pitchers combined for six hits, one run, thirteen strikeouts and no walks.

Alex Cunningham struggled a bit in the first inning, allowing a run off of three straight hits. He tightened up and struck out the next two Lancers to end the inning. Cunningham pitched six more innings, allowing only three more hits and striking out ten more. His twelve strikeouts is a career high and just one shy of the school record set by Ron Deubel in 1999, and matched by Steven Carter in 2004. It is also the most strikeouts by a Chanticleer since Ben Smith struck out twelve against Gardner-Webb in 2013. With this win, Cunningham improved to 6-0 and Coastal improved to 8-0 when he starts. Freshman Bobby Holmes took over in the eighth, and worked two perfect innings to earn his second save of the season.

The Chants' momentum carried them into a big 12-3 win Friday night to take the series.

Paez proved his worth yet again going 2-for-2 with a walk, two hits, three runs scored, four RBIs and a sacrifice bunt.

Other key players include Anthony Marks, who went 2-for-3 with three runs scored, and Al Molina, who went 3-for-3 with two runs scored.

Austin Kerr pitched five innings, and struck out six to earn his sixth win of the season.

Unfortunately, Coastal dropped the last game of the series on Saturday afternoon in what Coach Gilmore described as, "the most disappointing loss of the whole year."

PHOTOS BY: SIERRA DOHERTY

Zach Hopeck started off the game by allowing two homers and five Longwood runs in just two-thirds of an inning. The Chants got two runs back in the bottom of the first and took the lead in the third when they scored five runs off of two homers, which is all of the scoring Coastal managed. The Lancers scored another run in the fifth, but the Chants held their 7-6 lead until the top of the ninth. Coastal's defense fell apart, allowing Longwood to score three runs on one out. The Lancers added another run on a wild pitch by Holmes before the final batter popped up to end the inning. Coastal was unable to answer Longwood's run, so the Lancer's took the 10-7 win.

Through the 31 games the Chants have played, they have 23 wins. This is just one less than their 24 wins in 57 games last season. They'll go for their 24th win on April 7, when they travel to Chapel Hill for another Teal Tuesday game against North Carolina, who they defeated 13-2 earlier this season. The Chants will go for wins 25, 26, and 27 with a series at High Point starting Friday, April 10.

THE CHANTICLEER
NEWSPAPER

is looking for

PHOTOGRAPHERS
WRITERS

&

ENTERTAINMENT

THE TOP 5

Things not to do on campus now that it is officially spring

BY: LAUREN ROSE
Art Director

1 Tan in front of your residence hall

We get it. It's warm, the sun's out, and all you want to do now is get rid of the horrible paste-y whiteness that has befallen you during winter. Though it may seem that you can't wait a single day more to burn yourself to a crisp for that golden, unnatural looking tan, there is no need to do so in front of your residence halls. The Woods community, this is for you especially. We have a huge campus, the beach is literally ten minutes down the street, and there is a pool inside UP as well! Setting up camp outside your buildings is unnecessary, and most of the time you're just getting in the way of the people trying to enter and exit the building.

2 Drive around with all your windows down with bass so high the music is inaudible

We all love turning our stereos up when that one song we know everyone and their mothers would just love to hear. Unfortunately, that is just not the truth. Speeding around campus with your Jeep cover off blasting your obscure/hipster music will attract attention, just not the kind you were probably going for. Stop being obnoxious, and save the public concert for the fellow commuters on 501 or 544, not campus.

3 Wear your bathing suit to class

We aren't sure if you're trying to save yourself some time before heading to the beach, or you just find neon pink and yellow bikinis more comfortable to wear to class, but either way let's stick to regular clothing when it comes to attending class. If you think this doesn't apply to you because of the see-through white mesh cover-up you wear over your bathing suit, you're wrong about that too. Spend the extra five minutes to change into some booty shorts and a tank top before class, and save the bikini for the beach or pool.

4 Walk around campus barefoot

Yes, Coastal is technically a shoes-optional campus, but seriously why would you ever want to NOT wear shoes in these buildings? Sure, the cool grass feels nice between your toes, but think about all of the other dirty germs crawling around on the rest of the campus on the sidewalk and in Hicks or CINO. Not to mention the fact that since the ground is wet from rain 70% of the time, you're basically just walking through mud. Shoes were made for a reason, so get yourself a pair of $2 flip-flops and call it a day.

5 Snapchat with the temperature degree

Living in the south has its perks, especially when the temperature here is a nice 80 degrees fahrenheit while the temperature back in insert northern home state is miserable. And we get it, bragging to your family and friends back home is soooo fun, but snapping pictures with the temperature is getting pretty old. This also goes for posting screen shots of your weather app and making statuses about the weather tagging family members. We get it! You're in the south at the beach, of course the weather is going to be nicer than most of the country! Chill.

weekly best-bets

Students are always looking for activities to do after a grueling day of classes. Once our studying is done and our brains are fried we often want to relax and hang out with our friends. If you and your friends find yourselves looking for something to do during the week outside of your dorm room or apartment, there are a variety of activities happening this week that can peak anyone's interest.

BY: DEMARCUS McDOWELL
Entertainment Editor

Monday, April 6th

Coastal Softball will be taking on the Seahawks of UNC Wilmington starting at 4 pm on the Wade-Lott Softball Field.

Tuesday, April 7th

Enjoy an evening of eclectic chamber music for flute and bassoon starting at 7:30 pm in the Edwards Building Recital Hall. The concert will feature CCU faculty flutist Amy Hardison Tully and pianist Philip Powell. They will be joined by guest composer Thomas Dempster, assistant professor of music at South Carolina State University. For ticket information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at 843-349-2787.

Wednesday, April 8th

Come check out the Bryan Art Gallery Exhibit in the Edwards Building anytime between 9 am and 5 pm. The exhibit will feature works by graduating seniors pursuing graphic design degrees. This culmination of four years worth of study will include projects completed during their senior thesis in print, animation and more.

Thursday, April 9th

Thunder & Light Dance Show featuring nationally renowned clogging group All That will happen at The Carolina Opry starting at 7 pm. This laser light show is a must see and the new live production will get you up close and personal with the dancing style of All That. The group has been featured multiple times on "America's Got Talent" and have been a staple at The Carolina Opry for years. The production even features the same multi-colored laser show that has toured with Madonna and Pink Floyd. For more information about the show, contact The Carolina Opry at 800-843-6779.

Friday, April 10th

Country band and Carolina natives Parmalee will be performing at The House of Blues starting at 8:30 pm. The band is best known for hit singles "Carolina," "Close Your Eyes," and "Already Callin' You Mine." Ticket prices start at $18 and you can find out more information about the show by contacting the House of Blues at 843-272-3000.

Saturday, April 11th

The Vagina Monologues will be featured in the Johnson Auditorium starting at 7 pm. This play celebrates the strengths of women and allows them to share their stories. It also encourages them to reclaim their bodies and desires. Each monologue deals with various elements of the feminine experience and promotes female empowerment. Proceeds from the play will benefit the Rape Crisis Center of Horry and Georgetown Counties. For ticket information, contact the Wheelwright Box Office at 843-349-2787.

ENTERTAINMENT

RESTAURANT REVIEW

Jade Hibachi

CONWAY, SC
JAPANESE
RATING: 5.0

BY: FALICYA CRACE
Staff Writer

Every college student is looking for a place to go to get some good food at a good price. Besides the local fast food restaurants that clutter the surrounding areas of Coastal Carolina, there is also Jades Hibachi House. Jades is a place where students can go to eat real Japanese food without paying an expensive price.

Jade Hibachi is located right across from Coastal Carolina University, and they offer students an alternate option of decent food for a decent price. Friendly service is what you will receive when you walk into jades, or if you choose to have your food delivered. Jade's offers diners the option of eating in or having their food delivered, which is very convenient for college students.

Jade offers a variety of options to choose from; including chicken and rice bowls, and sushi. Jade's Hibachi house offers Japanese food that tastes like you are dining at a five star Japanese restaurant. When I go I always order the Jade's house special; which includes grilled shrimp, chicken and steak with grilled vegetables, and brown rice. This is my favorite dish that doesn't put a dent in my wallet. If you are looking for a convenient restaurant to eat great hibachi food, Jade's house is your destination.

MUSIC REVIEW

CCU Fight Song

NEW LYRICS BY SCOTT PLEASANT & JOE OESTREICH

BY: LAUREL NUSBAUMER
Features Editor

"In lieu of the feature story approaching the question about the lack of Teal Tuesday participation lately, a look into one of Coastal's proudest traditions seems to make for a fitting music review.

Here's the scoop: the song is worth knowing beyond the only grouping of lyrics everyone shouts, "go teal...and bronze," and "sock 'em, bust 'em, that's our custom." The song is actually pretty poetic, and two CCU faculty members, Scott Pleasant and Joe Oestreich, are to thank for making it more customized to the geography of our area. It's kickass.

I'd hate to chew up column space by sharing lyrics, but the recent additions as of Fall 2014 deserve to be observed in a more public light:

"We're the Chanticleers-
Defending the shore-
Best of Carolina
Since '54.

Stronger than the oaks
And sure as the tide,
Our hearts are beating fast
With Coastal pride!"

Those are some damn good words. We are lucky to attend a university that does not use a generic fight song that is shared with other institutions (this is real phenomenon) or has some sluggish tune (like at UNC Asheville).

Embracing tradition could very well make your college experience more enjoyable, especially at athletic events. Make sure to attend at least one game during your undergraduate career - you'll be sorry to have missed out.

CHAUNCEY'S CINEMA

Get Hard

COMEDY
RELEASE DATE: March 27, 2015
RATING: 5.0

BY: LOGAN WEISS
Staff Writer

When you have the improve goliath Will Ferrell and pair him with the snarky power house of Kevin Hart, you would think that you get comedy genius. I have to say that sparks did not fly as much as I would have hoped for in this flick.

Get Hard is a newly released comedy that stars Will Ferrell and Kevin Hart. Ferrell plays a waspy stock broker named James King who gets framed for stock fraud and is sentenced to ten years in a maximum security prison. To help survive, King hires family and business man Darnell Lewis (Hart) to train for survival in prison even though Lewis has never been to prison.

I have to tell you, I would go see this movie. It is worth the watch. However, there are some things you need to understand about this movie before you go and see it.

First, the plot is jumpy and really doesn't make fluid sense until the second half of the movie. It is as if the movie makers' top priority was just to get Ferrell and Hart into the same movie so their comedy styles could shine through in satirical situations. This, though, may have sacrificed the potential for a golden plot. The most hilarious scenes are also the ones where both Ferrell and Hart are most comfortable as actors and comedians. Also, you should understand that this movie jokes a lot about stereotypes. They take shots at every ethnicity and sexual orientation, so watch this movie with thick skin. This movie has another celebrity cameo which was hilarious, so be sure to look for that.

ENTERTAINMENT

HOROSCOPES

Resist the urge to tell others what to do. There is a difference between making positive suggestions and being critical. Work on your own goals and, first and foremost, be mindful of the requirements expected of you. An effort to avoid excess will improve your life and financial future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 - Feb. 19)

You can learn a lot by observing others. Look for people who are in a position to help get you ahead, and discuss your intentions and plans with them.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - March 20)

Your generous nature will lead to difficulties if you are too trusting. Don't make donations or loans to groups or people until you are sure of their integrity.

ARIES (March 21 - April 19)

You may be in a bit of a quandary regarding important partnerships. Think of the repercussions before saying regretful things. Clear the air without placing blame.

TAURUS (April 20 - May 20)

Putting extra effort into your job will gain you recognition. If you are humble about your achievements, your co-workers will be less likely to react with jealousy.

GEMINI (May 21 - June 20)

Make an effort to prove your loyalty and admiration to a cause or person. Plan a trip or make arrangements to attend an event or activity that encourages togetherness.

CANCER (June 21 - July 22)

Unexpected visitors will upset your schedule. Be courteous, but don't allow anyone to take advantage of your good nature. Put your responsibilities and needs first.

LEO (July 23 - Aug. 22)

The trust that others have in you will be lost if you participate in gossip. Now is the time to keep your innermost feelings private. A co-worker will try to damage your reputation.

VIRGO (Aug. 23 - Sept. 22)

Make your career your No. 1 priority. Keep on top of developments in your field. Revamp your resume to highlight your strengths. Apply for lucrative positions.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 - Oct. 23)

You can master whatever you put your mind to. Your actions and ideas will be noticed and will help you garner support. Speak up about your plans.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)

Don't believe everything you hear, and don't judge a new acquaintance without getting to know him or her first. Basing your opinions on hearsay will make you look bad.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 21)

Remain focused, and push your projects through to completion. You have a number of people on your side, but that doesn't mean your workload will be lessened.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 - Jan. 19)

Don't allow professional issues to interfere with your personal life. You won't be able to loosen up if you are complaining about what your co-workers are up to.

WANT YOUR STUDENT ORGANIZATION
FEATURED IN THE CHANTICLEER?

email
chanticleernews@gmail.com
for more information!

WORD SEARCH

K A Y A K H C R N J H V U H P H Q D C A
 T P K P F B X O B P G A N C V O Y F P V
 T K T T X Y F T M K H R E F E R P X B S
 K O S S S B Y A G A Y I F G I R R A V K
 E O X O M Y L V D Z M A D A M O N B O H
 N V D D M N B A W S X L C C T M I R D H
 O S F S Z C N T P G E D P A D L I X Q K
 O L Y Q I X R O E R F X T A R I V S I K
 N N K V K O N R E E E O E U E S D A O R
 J J I E T Q T F P V R L K S D V Q G B E
 I C T O D R E H S I X M I N I M M A O D
 H W R F C S N N Z V B K C F V Y E S B D
 M K O S D B E S W E W O N P I X Z U O E
 Y T H W Q H T S Q R R U Z K D Q M V I R
 M B R S S W B W O E S V K W E R U O P R
 F M H T D E I K P L P T Y D R G B N I T
 U J A C E W B A P S O R A D A R Z J P F
 T T E G E E P K E E I S M R I D X M M B
 S T V I D E H E M L E V E L W O Y B U A
 A K R G R J S Q K U F Y E Y E M U G B M

SUDOKU

	8
				4	7			9
4	2			3			7
	4		7	6				5
1	5						9	7
7				1	5		3
	9			7			1	6
2			8	9
							8

PALINDROMIC WORDS

REDIVIDER ROTAVATOR REPAPER REVIVER ROTATOR
 REDDER CIVIC KAYAK LEVEL MADAM MINIM RADAR
 REFER ROTOR SAGAS SEXES SOLOS STATS TENET
 DEED NOON PEEP SEES BIB BOB MUM PIP POP
 WOW DAD DID EWE EYE GIG

Cyanide and Happiness © Explosm.net

Do you feel strongly about things happening around campus or in the world?

Submit your opinion at chanticleernews@gmail.com!

Somethings are Better Together

Like Coffee & Cream

ampuswalk

— A WALK2CAMPUS PROPERTY —

All 2 bed / 2 bath units. All inclusive.

Call us at 843-234-1188 to schedule a tour of our model.

www.walk2campus.com | 1520 Hicks Circle Apt. 301 Conway, SC 29526